

22c Titles of important Journal Articles One selected for each year: 1978 - 2009

Here are the titles of one Article (by a member of the Shap Working Party) from each of the 32 editions of the Shap Journal, covering the years 1978 to 2009. To view the text of the Article go to the archive of journal articles on the compendium.

1978	Rastafarianism in RE	W. Owen Cole
1979	Studying Race Relations	Donald Butler
1980	Next Year in Jerusalem	Peter Woodward
1981	A Brief Survey of Questions on World Religions at GCE 'O' Level John Finel and Mary Hayward
1982	'To die must be an awfully big adventure' (Peter Pan)	Vida M Barnett
1983	A Visit to Amritsar	Vida M Barnett
1984	Conflict and Reconciliation in Buddhism	Richard Gombrich
1985	Worship in the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers)	Cherry Gould
1986	Zoroastrians in Britain	John Hinnells
1987	Indian Children and Hindu Festivals in England	Robert Jackson and Eleanor Nesbitt
1988	Some Reflections on Women and World Religions	Ursula King

1989	The Jewish Approach to the Environment	Clive A Lawton
1990	Story – The Buddhist Way	Peggy Morgan
1991 .	Development of Faith and the Perception of Truths – the use of the visual arts in Buddhism	Paul Williams
1992	Religion and Truth – Some Hindu Perspectives	Dilip Kadodwala
1993	A Teaching Topic in the European Classroom	Herbert Schultze
1994	Introducing the Shap Archive	Mary Hayward & Peggy Morgan
1995	Religion as a series of religions	John Hull
1996	Conflict and Reconciliation: A Muslim Perspective	Riadh El-Droubie
1997 .	Religious Education and the Sikh Identity: Is this a Special Case?	Eleanor Nesbitt
1998	Faith and Values without God – A Humanist Perspective	Marilyn Mason
1999 .	The Peace Window – Children with Special Needs - Understanding Religion and Human Experience	Anne Krisman
2000	Do you want the phone number?	Clive A. Lawton
2001 .	Recollections of Community and Changing Community in India	Frank Whaling
2002	Two Wolves, Twin Towers	Alan Brown
2003	Rich or Poor, It's Good to Have Money	Angela Gluck Wood

- 2004 Signalling Transcendence: beyond the National Framework for RE
Brian Gates
- 2005 Godly Play: see things differently, do things differently Alison Seaman
- 2006 A Basket of Mealies and a Bicycle Bell Angela Gluck Wood
- 2007 Shin and the Diversity of Buddhism Wendy Dossett
- 2008 Our environment and us: a Sikh perspective Gopinder Kaur
- 2009 Soul Food and Sin-Eating: Folklore, Faith and Funerals Erica Brown

Choosing which Articles to include and which to omit has proved to be a daunting project. Items for which there was no room but which were high on the list for inclusion were:

- 1983 Al-Hajj Vida Barnett with Riadh-el-Droubie
- 1984 Can the Sikh Scriptures be translated? W. Owen Cole
- 1995 On Teaching Hinduism: Some personal thoughts Elizabeth Wayne
- 1999 The Tercentenary of the Creation of the Khalsa – The Sikh Community
Kanwaljit Kaur Singh
- 1999 Millennial Meditations Peter Woodward
- 2007 The Nature of Distinctiveness – On being a Samaritan Peter Woodward with Vida M Barnett

There are, of course, many other Journal articles by Shap Members, too numerous to include. Grateful thanks go to all who edited and to those who contributed.

Appreciation must also be expressed for the vast number of similar articles by contributors who are not Members of the Working Party. A sample of a dozen of these follows.

1982	Rachel Gregory	Exploring death through story with young Children
1983	Kim Knott	'Waft ki jay' A Hindu Pilgrimage to Ambaji in North Gujarat
1984	Chris Shackle	The Sacred Texts of Sikhism
1984	David Day	The Chichester Project: the second four books reviewed
1985	Tina Mehta	Worship: a Zoroastrian perspective
1986	Douglas Jones	A Hundred thousand Chinese and no temple
1990	Piara Singh Sambhi	The role of story-telling in the Sikh tradition
1991	Dennis Starkings	The Buddha: images and ideas
1997	Harriet Crabtree	Religious Identity in Contemporary Britain
2000	Richard Dawkins	Science, Delusion and the Appetite for Wonder
2000	Ven Ajahn Khemadhammo	A Day in the Forest Retreat
2002	Michael Nazir-Ali	Looking Forward Together, Reflections on a meeting of Muslims and Christians at Lambeth Palace